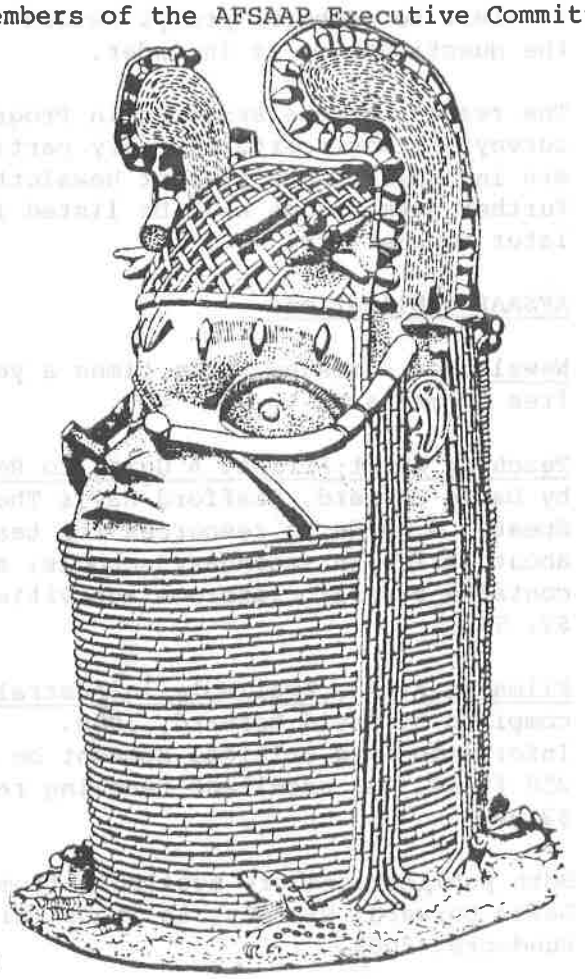
NEWSLETTER

Volume III Number 1 March 1981

AFSAAP News and Notes

At the August 1980 AFSAAP conference a new Secretary and Treasurer based in Canberra were elected to take over from the founding officials, Tom Spear and David Dorward, and this is the first Newsletter prepared by the new executive. In the absence of Association activity during the summer break, the Newsletter inevitably reflects a bias towards news readily gleaned in Canberra. This should prove to be a temporary aberration as Executive Committee members based elsewhere begin to contribute news and as preparations for the August 1981 conference at UNSW take shape.

Since the last Newsletter, the major event of African interest has been the ANU Public Affairs Seminar on Zimbabwe, held in December. Rick Higgott provides herein a report on the seminar, which brought together enough members of the AFSAAP Executive Committee to hold a meeting on the 1981 conference.



Close links with the African desks at the Department of Foreign Affairs have made it possible for AFSAAP both to obtain advance notice of African visitors and to offer suggestions for government-sponsored visitors, particularly in conjunction with the August conference. Final arrangements for the latter have not yet been settled but we hope to have a distinguished African keynote speaker.

This Newsletter may reach members in time to notify them of the itineraries of two African vice-chancellors who are visiting Australia during March-April. We hope to make other visits known in advance through the Executive Committee network, and members who wish to be notified of prospective visitors from Africa should make this known to their local Committee member.

Several AFSAAP members have recently returned from extended visits in Africa and may be able to provide information and advice (even lectures) to interested colleagues. Preston King has recently returned from East Africa, Donald Denoon from South Africa and Namibia, and Ian Hancock from Zimbabwe, while Cherry Gertzel is currently travelling in East Africa. Ken Good is absent for even longer, having taken up an appointment at Port Harcourt.

AFSAAP News and Notes

Role of AFSAAP

If the Association is to serve as an effective agency for information about activities of African interest in Australia, its Secretary needs to be informed of research in progress, planned and recent travel, publications, and visitors.

Towards this end, the present issue of the Newsletter contains a questionnaire which will serve as the basis for a new Directory and for surveys of research in future Newsletters. The present out-of-date Directory has proved invaluable in recommending sources of Africanist expertise to ABC news programmes, Parliamentary committees, and conference organisers, as well as to ADAB officials seeking consultants to evaluate projects in Africa. If advising any of these organisations, or merely identifying others in Australasia and the Pacific with shared African concerns, is of interest to members, prompt return of the questionnaire is in order.

The results of the Research in Progress survey - almost certainly very partial - are included in the present Newsletter. Further submissions will be listed in later Newsletters.

AFSAAP Publications

Newsletter - issued three times a year, free to members.

1981 Conference

The 1981 AFSAAP Conference will be held on August 24-25 at the University of New South Wales. A co-ordinating committee under the chairmanship of Dr John Lea of the University of Sydney has met frequently and arrangements at UNSW for the conference are well in hand, thanks to Professor Preston King and Dr A.C. Palfreeman. A conference registration and accommodation form is attached to this Newsletter and should be returned as soon as possible, particularly by those who wish to make use of the scarce accommodation available at or adjacent to the UNSW campus.

The three conference panels are on

Food, Famine and Population
The Media and Africa
Themes and Concepts in Contemporary African Society

Papers for all three panels are invited and firm titles should be submitted by May 1st to John Lea, Department of Town and Country Planning, University of Sydney, NSW 2006. The final deadline for receipt of finished papers is July 31st 1981. A draft programme for the conference will appear in the next Newsletter.

African Visitors to Australia

The recent visit of Chief Ordia of the African Sports Council is merely the first of several officially sponsored this year by the Australian government and other agencies. The following are of particular interest to AFSAAP :-

Prof. A. Wandira, Vice-Chancellor, Makerere University, Uganda - March 29th to April 11th : Sydney, Armidale, Canberra, Melbourne, Perth.

Prof. Walter Kamba, Principal and Vice-Chancellor Designate, University of Zimbabwe - March 30th-April 14th : Canberra, Brisbane, Melbourne, Perth.

Prof. Aki Sawyer, Professor of Law, University of PNG (on secondment from University of Ghana) - April 21st-May 2nd : Brisbane, Sydney, Canberra, Melbourne.

Mr Damiba, President of the West African Bank - April 21st-26th : Canberra, Sydney, New Zealand.

Dr Peter Onu, Deputy Secretary General, Organisation of African Unity - dates uncertain, but probably July-August.

Mr Justice Dumbutshena of Zimbabwe, and Chief ROA Akinjide, Attorney-General of Nigeria - to attend Australian Legal Convention in Hobart, July 4th-10th, and travel elsewhere in Australia before and after the convention.

Commonwealth Heads of Government Meeting, Melbourne, September 30th-October 7th. Several African heads of government will attend and may visit other parts of Australia before or after the meeting.

For further information about these visitors, contact the Secretary of AFSAAP.

Academic Visitors

Dr D. Ball, University of Cape Town, visiting Department of Solid State Physics, Research School of Physical Sciences, Australian National University until December 1981.

Assoc. Prof. J.R. Grindley, University of Cape Town visiting Department of Environmental Studies, Macquarie University until April 30th 1981.

Prof. H.E. Enahoro, University of Lagos, visiting Department of Mechanical and Industrial Engineering, UNSW until March 1st 1982.

Dr John Schlegel, Departments of Political Science, Creighton University and University of Nebraska at Omaha, visiting the Department of International Relations, Research School of Pacific Studies, Australian National University until July 1981. Dr Schlegel, who recently published a study of Canadian policies and attitudes towards Africa in the 1960s and early 1970s, is preparing a similar study of Australia and Africa.

A number of African directors of institutes of administration from Ghana, Kenya, Nigeria, Uganda and Swaziland will be attending a Round Table conference of the International Association of Schools and Institutes of Administration at the Canberra College of Advanced Education, July 12th-18th, and officials from Mauritius and Seychelles will be attending a workshop on administration in small states during the conference.

Prof. R.M. Prothero, University of Liverpool, visiting the Department of Geography, Faculty of Arts, Australian National University, July-September 1981.

Prof. M.H. Abdulaziz, University of Nairobi, visiting Department of Linguistics, Faculty of Arts, Australian National University, July-September 1981.

New Academic Arrivals

Prof. Deryck Schreuder, who has worked on the history of Southern Africa, has recently taken up a chair in History at the University of Sydney.

Dr Randall Pouwels, whose specialty is Islamic history and the Swahili community of the East African coast, will arrive in May to take up a lectureship in History at LaTrobe University, replacing Tom Spear, the former secretary of AFSAAP, who is now at Williams College, Williamstown, Mass., USA.

Enquiries concerning Academic Visits

The following enquiries have been received by AFSAAP from Africanists interested in visiting Australia.

Dr Marion Johnson, of the Centre of West African Studies at the University of Birmingham, is a specialist on the pre-colonial economy of West Africa. She has indicated to David Dorward of LaTrobe University an interest in visiting for a term or a lecture tour.

Dr Kwame A. Ninsin, of the Department of Political Science at the University of Ghana (PO Box 64, Legon, Ghana), would be interested in teaching in Australia during his year's sabbatical leave, from September 1982. His interest is in the Political Economy of African Development, particularly in technical modernisation and its impact on agrarian social structure, and in land questions.

Prof. Graham W. Irwin, Director of the Institute of African Studies at Colombia University (New York, N.Y. 10027) and a native of Adelaide, will be on sabbatical leave during 1983-84 and would like to teach in Australia during January-July 1984. He has published extensively on the 19th century history of Ghana and on the African diaspora.

Survey of Research in Progress

With the June 1980 Newsletter was circulated a form asking for information on current and projected research in Africa. Returns for this survey were slight, but listing them may provoke others to notify the Secretary of their research plans and activities. Further listings will appear in later Newsletters.

Caldwell, Prof. J.C., Dept. of Demography, Research School of Social Sciences, ANU. Continuing work on the relationship between maternal education and child mortality, and a Department project on The Changing African Family, on which a final report may appear in 1981. No further field work projected for 1981. Support from the Population Council.

Collins, Dr Colin B., Dept. of Education, University of Queensland. Research on the labour process and black schooling in South Africa during outside studies leave in 1982 (following up visit in December 1979). Limited support from Department.

Connah, Prof. Graham, Dept. of Prehistory and Archaeology, University of New England. Research with Ahmadu Bello University, Zaria, Nigeria, on evidence of human settlement before 4000 BP in Lake Chad area of Nigeria, Jan.-Feb. 1981 (previous research reported in 3000 Years in Africa, CUP 1980). Partial supporrt from Centre for Nigerian Cultural Studies, ABU, Zaria.

Etherington, Dr Norman A., Dept. of History, University of Adelaide. Research on theories of imperialism and South Africa, and on missionary ideologies, 1880-1920, during May-August 1981 in South Africa and Zimbabwe. Support from University.

Evans, Ms Jenny, Dept. of English, Newcastle University. PhD research on the novels of Ngugi wa Thiong'o and Ayi Kwei Armah, looking particularly at the role and image of women and colonial and post-colonial cultural identity.

Gooding, Kenneth W., 98 McIlwraith St., North Carlton, Vic. 3054. Manuscript completed on South Africa Today, a basic resource for teaching at senior high school level.

Hancock, Ian, Dept. of History, Faculty of Arts, ANU. Books in preparation on the history of white liberalism in Rhodesia, 1953-1980, and the history of White Rhodesia, 1969-1980. Most recent fieldwork, Dec. 80/Feb. 81.

Ifeka, Dr Caroline, Dept. of Prehistory and Anthropology, Faculty of Arts, ANU. Comparison of cultural change processes in Mozambique, Goa and Timor. Field-work in Mozambique and South Africa, Dec. 1981-Feb. 1982.

Lea, Dr John P., Dept of Town and Country Planning, University of Sydney. Research on social impact of tourism development in Mauritius and Swaziland in Dec.-Jan. 1979/80. Research on policies towards black housing in South Africa in 1977/78 and 1979/80. Support from University.

Low, Prof. D.A., Vice-Chancellor, ANU. Using previous African research in general essays in preparation; book on Uganda awaiting completion.

Miller, Toby, Dept. of Political Science, Faculty of Arts, ANU. PhD research on the transfer of political ideas and behaviour from colonial powers to African states. Fieldwork, probably in Kenya and Cameroun, during 1982. Support from Commonwealth scholarship.

Neal, Stephen, Dept. of History, Faculty of Arts, ANU. MA thesis on British policy and the colonial economy of Tanganyika, 1918-1938. Submitted Feb. 1981.

Pateman, Roy, 30/1 Stewart St., Glebe, NSW 2037. Research on co-operation between Israel and South Africa, and on Rastafarianism and the Back-to-Africa movement. Field research plans uncertain.

Perkins, Dr Frances, 16 Abbott St., Yarralumla, ACT. PhD thesis 1980 (Univ. of Sussex) on technological choice, industrialisation and development in Tanzania. Fieldwork 1977-78.

Pettman, Dr Jan, Dept of Sociology, Canberra CAE. Research on teaching African studies at CAEs and schools, especially on issues of race, prejudice and the teacher's role in attitude change.

Rooke, Andrew, 24 Carlsberg Road, Eaglemont, Melbourne, Vic. 3084. Compilation of a 2-volume bibliography of oral history recorded in Zambia and material based on oral sources in Zambia, based on fieldwork 1978-80. Support by Swedish government through University of Zambia library.

Russell, Ms Jan, Dept of Linguistics, Macquarie University. Thesis research on phonological analysis of Moba language (Gur family) spoken in northern Togo. Fieldwork 1981.

Smyth, Rosaleen, School of Education, University of Zambia. PhD research (for Univ. of London) on the development of government propaganda services in Northern Rhodesia. Fieldwork in 1975 and 1979/80.

Stewart, R.G., Dept of International Relations, Research School of Pacific Studies, ANU. Research on the role of the state in Tanzania, Sri Lanka and Papua New Guinea. Fieldwork in Tanzania late 1982. Support from Commonwealth scholarship.

ten Raa, Dr Eric, Dept of Anthropology, University of Western Australia. Research on social change and ritual in central Tanzania. Fieldwork early in 1981 during outside studies leave.

Tsamenyi, Martin, Dept of Political Science, Faculty of Arts, ANU. PhD research on government and dissent in Ghana. Fieldwork in 1982. Support from ANU scholarship.

Warner, N.P.A., Dept of History, Faculty of Arts, ANU. Thesis research on sources of division within the guerilla movement in Zimbabwe. Fieldwork in Zimbabwe 1976-7 and 1980.

ANU Public Affairs Seminar : Zimbabwe

In May of last year, the Sub-Committee on Southern Africa of the Parliamentary Joint Committee on Foreign Affairs and Defence published its report on Zimbabwe.[1] The report, it needs to be said at the outset, is quite a splendid document comparable to any of the most comprehensive monographs produced on African countries over the last decade or so. The report provides a detailed discussion of the political history of Zimbabwe from the Order in Council of 1898 which established provisions for the government of Southern Rhodesia through UDI, the Internal Settlement and the 1979 Constitution, the Lusaka Conference, the Lancaster House Conference and the 1980 elections, to Independence. The report also has comprehensive discussions of such things as black nationalism in Zimbabwe, the guerilla war, population and migration, the economy, sanctions and human rights and racial discrimination.

The report represented the conclusion of the sub-committee's first major exercise within its broader terms of reference which were:

> "That the Sub-Committee consider, investigate and report to the full committee on the significance of events in Southern Africa, with particular reference to the economic, political, social and strategic implications for Australia"

As a result of the publication of the Zimbabwe Report the ANU decided to hold a one day Public Affairs Seminar, in December 1980, to discuss it. The Prime Minister, Malcolm Fraser, agreed to open the Seminar but was struck down with a recurring bout of pneumonia several days before the event. As it was there were four sessions at the Seminar:

i) The transfer of power

Mr Ian Hancock (ANU)
Dr Neal Blewett MHR
Mr Neil Brown MHR
Mr David Evans (Department of Foreign Affairs)
Mr Nick Warner (ONA)

Messrs Brown, Blewett and Evans had been members of the Australian National Observer Group which had gone to Zimbabwe in February 1980 to monitor the elections.

ii) Economic, Social and Political Developments in Zimbabwe Since Independence

Dr June Verrier (Legislative Research Service)
Dr Victor Prescott (University of Melbourne)
Mrs Robin Burnett (ANU)
Mr David Mzite (ANU)
Mr Roy Pateman (University of Sydney)

iii) Contemporary International Relations of Southern Africa

Professor J.D.B. Miller (ANU)
Mr E.G. Dimka (Acting High Commissioner, Nigeria)
Dr Cherry Gertzel (Flinders University)
Dr John Lea (University of Sydney)
Dr Tom Millar (ANU)
Dr W.J. O'Malley (ANU)

iv) Australian Policy Towards Southern Africa and Zimbabwe

Dr Richard Higgott (University of Western Australia)
Senator John Knight (ACT)
Mr A.T. Griffith (Department of PM and Cabinet)
Mr C.A. Edwards (Department of Foreign Affairs)
Dr R.C. Manning (ADAB)

As can be seen from the participants, the range of topics was wide; indeed, possibly too wide since speakers were allocated only 10-15 minutes, many ran overtime and discussion was thus necessarily curtailed. Several features of the seminar are, however, worthy of mention.

Firstly there was a unanimous high regard for the quality of the report. Secondly, there was a similar regard for the role that Australia had played in the settlement, especially at Lusaka. Thirdly great concern was expressed that Australia should continue to build on its excellent post settlement relationships, although there was doubt as to whether this would be possible given the lack of concrete ties between Australia and the region. It was also felt that Australian policy towards Southern Africa, essentially a bi-partisan affair over the last few years, may well face problems in the future. Australia's high profile over the last few years has created expectations in black Africa that future Australian governments might be unwilling or unable to meet.[2]

Professor Low, the Vice-Chancellor of the ANU and President of AFSAAP concluded the seminar by making an appeal for the continuance of the sub-committee in Southern Africa in face of the rumour of its amalgamation with another sub-committee. It would indeed be a pity if the sub-committee were not to produce a report on other aspects of the region and its relations with Australia, especially given the voluminous amounts of evidence it has taken to-date.[3]

Notes

The African Relief Appeal, launched by the International Disaster Emergencies Committee in July 1980, collected $657,195.78 by 1 April 1981. Of that amount, $565,000 has already been passed on to agencies of the Australian Council for Overseas Aid and the Australian Red Cross. Tax-deductible donations can still be sent to the Appeal, c/o ACFOA, PO Box 1562, Canberra City, ACT 2601.

Amnesty International has established an Africa Co-ordinating Group to support and co-ordinate the work of approximately twenty adoption groups in Australia which are currently assigned African Prisoners of Conscience. Each adoption group is assigned two or three Prisoners of Conscience from politically and geographically diverse countries and work for the welfare and ultimate release of the prisoners. The Africa Co-ordinating Group plans Australia-wide country campaigns focusing on problems in a single country, and a special campaign is being considered regarding Guinea-Conakry. Further information on the activities of the Africa Co-ordinating Group is available from Kelsey Kauffman, 28 Durham Street, St Lucia, Qld 4067.

The ANU Public Affairs Seminar on Zimbabwe, described above by Rick Higgott, was tape-recorded and tapes are available from the Instructional Resources Unit at the ANU.

Africa in Canberra

A survey of official personnel and activities in Canberra concerned with African affairs may be of value to AFSAAP members, and the following is an initial attempt to cover major institutions. Further surveys of institutions and resources of African interest elsewhere in Australia are welcome for later numbers of the Newsletter.

The Subcommittee on Southern Africa, of the Commonwealth Parliament's Joint Committee on Foreign Affairs and Defence, followed up its extensive survey and report on Zimbabwe with hearings on Namibia before the 1980 elections and again in March 1981, and is now preparing its report on Namibia. The Subcommittee has been combined with the Subcommittee of the Middle East to form a Subcommittee on Southern Africa and the Middle East and it will monitor developments in both areas, though no further hearings and reports on Southern Africa are firmly proposed at this stage. Anyone with further information on Namibia or suggestions concerning further investigations is invited to contact the Subcommittee secretary, Mr Ron Wiber (ph. 726194).

The staff of the Department of Foreign Affairs currently concerned with Africa are the following :-

International Organisations, Africa and Middle East Division
Head : C.R. Ashwin

Africa and Middle East Branch
Head : C.A. Edwards

Southern and West Africa Section
Head : Ms P.A. Wensley
L. Rowe (Southern)
P. Stanford (East, Horn, Indian Ocean)
B. Haigh (Zimbabwe, Nigeria, Central and West)

Middle East and North Africa Section
Head : G. Miller
B. Babington (Sudan-Maghreb)

In the Australian Development Assistance Bureau, most branches have some concern with African projects, but co-ordination of activities for the continent lies in the Programmes Division:

Pacific, Asia and Africa Programmes Branch
Head : R. Spratt

South Asia, Africa and Middle East Section
Head : E. Coghill

T. Vale (Southern and East Africa)

The following page shows the spread of African projects undertaken by the voluntary agencies affiliated with the Australian Council for Overseas Aid. The figures have not been fully verified and are for 1979, the latest available. The agencies indicated by their initials are the following: World Vision of Australia, Community Aid Abroad, Australian Council of Churches, Freedom From Hunger Campaign, Australian Catholic Relief, Austcare, Lutheran World Federation, Save the Children Fund, Quaker Service Council, YMCA, United Nations Association. Africa received 19% of the agency project total of $10,919,891.
